SPAM DETECTOR DEFEATING SYSTEM

Abstract of Disclosure

A system detecting and killing system which uses random parts. By using random parts, a descriptor of an electronic communication, such as a return address and/or a description of an electronic web page, can be changed each time it is used. A system is described for forming such e-communications with random and continuously varying parts. A system is also described for defeating such an e-communications by detecting those parts.

Figures